Publication Ethics, Rights and Malpractice

in agreement with the Committee on Publication Ethics \(COPE\)

Publication ethics

Publishers and editors will take reasonable steps to identify and prevent the publication of papers where research misconduct has occurred. Plagiarism software is used for primary check-up of manuscripts. We do not encourage any misconduct or fraud.

In the event that a published article doesn't respect the ethics, will be retracted and the information will be displayed on the webpage of the journal, respectively all databases will be informed. The authors involved in non-ethical issues will be banned from publication for a specific amount of time.

Corrections or clarifications are possible on articles, based on letter to editor, if issues are identified. If is the case the authors will offer apologies.

Duplicate Publication

It is unethical for authors to submit multiple similar manuscripts for publication at a time. It is also unethical for authors to submit a manuscript that has already been published or is in the process of review elsewhere.

The publication which exhibits substantial overlapping from two or more previous publications without appropriate cross-referencing or justification for the overlap, i.e. redundant publications, are accepted only if: (i) it is felt that editorially this will strengthen the academic discourse and (ii) citation to the original source is included.

Reproducibility, Plagiarism and Falsification

Authors must report their work accurately and precisely in order to be reproduced by other researchers independently. Plagiarism and falsification in any parts of the submitted paper are serious offences to the scientific community and must strictly be avoided.

Data and Supporting Evidence

We support transparency and openness around data, code, and other materials associated with research. We expect authors to maintain accurate records of supporting evidence necessary to allow others to understand, verify, and replicate new findings, and to supply or provide access to this supporting evidence, on reasonable request.

Peer-review Process

All articles published in the M&M journal are subjected to peer-review. Single blind Peer-review is used, involving minimum 2 top experts in the field for each article (Reviewers aware of the name of authors, but authors do not know the name of reviewers). All reviewers involved in the journal's work should not have any conflict of interest.

Authorship

The co-authors should be limited to those who have sufficiently contributed to the content of the work in responsible and accountable manners. The corresponding author must confirm that submission of the manuscript has been approved by all co-authors. Authors are obliged to participate in peer review process. All authors are obliged to provide retractions or corrections of mistakes. Please make sure that financial support is presented, if any.

Conflict of Interest

Authors must disclose conflicts of interest and state all funding sources that have supported the work.

Research with Humans or Animals

Research involving humans or animals should be approved by relevant ethics committee(s) and should conform to international ethical and legal standards for research. We also expect authors to respect human participants' right to privacy, and to gain any necessary consent to publish before submitting to M&M.

Copyright - CC BY-NC

M&M is an OPEN ACCESS journal. All content is freely available without charge to any user or his/her institution. Users are allowed to read, download, copy, distribute, print, search, or link to the full texts of the articles in this journal without asking prior permission from the publisher or the author. It is compulsory to insert reference of the cited article.
